

GATES HOME IS ENTERED AGAIN

This Time Intruder Searches Clothes
Basket Evidently For That Pocketbook he Overlooked.

MYSTERY DEEP AS EVER

Develops This is Third Time in Less Than Week That House Has Been Ransacked in Evening.

The robber who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gates, corner of Harrison and Fifth streets, Monday night between the hours of seven and nine, evidently "kicked himself" when he read in the newspapers that he had overlooked a roll of bills in the lining of a pocketbook secreted in the clothes basket in the kitchen, for someone entered the kitchen at the Gates home last night about seven-thirty o'clock and tore all of the clothes out of the basket, but was frightened away before anything was taken.

This is the inference that the police and Mrs. Gates draw. The fact that the bold intruder last night ransacked the clothes basket indicates that it was the same person who returned to get that which he missed at first attempt.

Nor is this the second time that the Gates home has been entered within less than a week during the twilight hours. Mrs. Gates does not recall exactly whether it was last Thursday or Friday, but from the way many things in the house were disturbed, she felt that someone had been going through the drawers of the library table when she returned from a visit with a neighbor.

The incident was not reported to the police because Mrs. Gates and her son felt that they might be imagining too much, but when the home had been ransacked after the return home of Mr. and Mrs. Gates last Monday night, the police were notified. And when a similar thing transpired last night, Mrs. Gates told of the incident of last week.

Because of the other two circumstances, Mrs. Gates says that last night after supper she took special precaution to look up the house before she sat down on the front porch. The door leading from the kitchen to the back screen porch was securely bolted and the screen door at the side of the house which admits people to the stairway was hooked by Mrs. Gates. She states this positively because the previous experiences caused her to lock everything so she would feel secure.

Jean Gates, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Gates, came in from play last evening while his mother sat on the front porch and went upstairs, remaining only a few moments. He came down and went to the kitchen, where he found evidence of burglary at first glance, and screamed for his mother.

The clothes had been pulled from the basket and strewn over the kitchen floor and several things were removed from the refrigerator. A small stand near a window in the kitchen had been knocked over and the side door screen was unhooked. A silver dollar was lying on the dining room table undisturbed, and the intruder had to pass through this room to reach the door.

Because the stand had been knocked over the police believed the robber had entered through the window. It was raised and there was a screen that could be removed easily in it. The police examined the window sill and floor between the window for tracks or marks of some sort, but could find nothing. Large hollyhocks grew just outside and the

AT CONSTRUCTION WORK

Conduits Laid to Put the Telephone
Cable Under Ground.

Actual construction work has been started by the George H. Glass company of Pekin, Illinois, which has the contract for cabling the wires in the north part of the city for the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone company. Conduits are being laid between Main and Perkins street in Twelfth street. It is planned to put all of the cables between Main and Perkins street under ground. The cables in the business part of the city are already under ground.

RUSHVILLE GIRL NAMED PRESIDENT

Miss Ruth Applegate to Lead Young
Peoples' Societies of Indiana
Presbytery, U. P. Church.

BANNER COMES TO THIS CITY

Miss Ruth Applegate of this city was elected president and Mrs. Robert Green of Milroy, treasurer of the young peoples' societies of the United Presbytery at the closing session of the annual meeting at the Woodruff Avenue U. P. church in Indianapolis yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Maxwell of Greensburg was elected secretary. There was a large attendance from this county.

The Rushville society won the banner contest for the number of books on missionary work read by the members. The Bloomington and local societies tied for the honor, but since Bloomington held the banner last year, it was decided to give it to Rushville.

Miss Elizabeth Waite of this city made a brief talk at the session yesterday afternoon. The Rev. A. W. Jamieson, pastor of the local church, made the chief address at the Tuesday afternoon's session when he delivered a message to the young people from the general assembly of the church which was held at Atlanta, Georgia, this year and which he attended.

COUNTRY HOME IS BURNED TO GROUND

Residence on the Dr. Charles Morris
Farm South of Here Catches
Fire From Defective Flue.

HALF OF FURNITURE SAVED

The house on the Dr. Charles Morris farm south of here, which was occupied by Robert Morris and family, was destroyed by fire yesterday evening at a loss of about $1,700. Very little insurance was carried.

The house caught fire from a defective flue about three-thirty o'clock and by five o'clock the roof had caved in. The house caught just after the storm passed over yesterday afternoon which gave rise to the first report that the house had been hit by lightning. Members of the family attempted to save the house, but when they saw their attempts were futile, they devoted their efforts to carrying out the furniture.

Only about half of the household goods were saved and the remainder burned at a loss estimated at two hundred dollars, with no insurance. The house was valued at fifteen hundred dollars. A small amount of insurance was carried on it.

EVENTS WILL BE HELD BIWEEKLY

Decided at Park Grass Cutting Wednesday to Continue Them Every 2 Weeks Through Summer.

A NEW COURSE IS ADOPTED

Tree Doctors Are at Work in City Park to Display Their Ability to Help the Trees.

The rain of yesterday afternoon frightened most of the people away from the grass cutting which was to have been held at the city park Wednesday afternoon and evening. A few people, probably fifty or more, attended and enjoyed their suppers, but no work was done because the grass was too wet.

It was decided yesterday that the grass cutting should become a regular event in the life of the community and that one should be held on Wednesday afternoons every two weeks. Some changes were made in the program, which, it is believed, will attract more people to the event.

People who attended yesterday afternoon had an opportunity to see the tree "doctors" at work. The Indiana Forestry company of Indianapolis is doing some free work at the park to indicate what can be accomplished with the fast decaying trees with a view to obtaining a contract to treat all of the defective trees.

Mr. Brayton, manager of the company, was here all day yesterday. Four others were working on the trees. Benjamin W. Douglass, former state entomologist, has direct charge of the work of the company. He was one of the men here yesterday. He is an entomologist of note and will probably be in charge of the work if the council retains the company to affect a cure of the trees.

It is not at all improbable but that the council will sign a contract with the company to work on the park trees. The question will probably come up at the next council meeting. It is said that the members of the park committee favor such action.

The tree "doctors" are at work on the majestic oak that stands just north of the Ninth street bridge. The top of the tree was dying and in a few more years it would have to be cut down. The men are cutting the top out of it, and in addition to making a great deal of difference in the appearance of the tree, they expect to retard the decay and save the tree's life.

Several councilmen were present at the grass cutting last night and their opinion was asked concerning future grass cuttings to be held under the auspices of the Rushville Civic Improvement and Social Service association. They all declared that they believed it would be best to hold them all summer, because such events would help to stimulate the interest in the park as well as keep the grass mowed and the park clean. The officers of the association consulted the councilmen before taking any action, as said they would be guided by their opinion, because the association did not care to do anything that would hamper the work of the landscape gardener, who is to be employed by the city council.

Much grass was cut by a horse-drawn mower yesterday afternoon before the rain, but the grass was so wet afterwards that men could not mow it with lawnmowers. It is expected that a much larger crowd will be in attendance at the next

LOCAL WOMAN IN NEAR ACCIDENT

Driver of Machine Takes Chance of Hitting Rig Rather Than go Over Embankment.

OCCURS ON HILL NEAR LAUREL

Buggy Badly Smashed But Occupants Escape Injury—Automobile is Damaged.

A serious automobile accident involving a number of prominent Rushville women was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon two miles east of Laurel. The accident was prevented from being worse than it was by the presence of mind of Earl Mabrac cooled, who instead of driving over a deep embankment took a chance on hitting a buggy and escaped without injuring anyone.

Mabrac was driving the touring car belonging to T. H. Reed and the occupants of the machine included Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Will Havens, Mrs. C. H. Gilbert and Mrs. George Aultman. The party was coming from the east towards Laurel and on a very steep hill with a dangerous turn met a buggy. The road was too narrow for both to pass and to avoid hitting the rig, Mabrac would have gone in the ditch and the party of women would no doubt have been badly hurt. The machine hit the buggy and tore off two wheels and upset the occupants, a man, woman and child. The child fell to the ground but was not injured.

The Rushville people did not learn the man's name but a settlement for the damage was effected immediately. The automobile was badly damaged, the front axle being badly bent. The machine was driven on to Laurel and the party came home by way of Connersville.

The party in the Reed machine together with Mrs. O. M. Dale, Mrs. Nannie Helm, Miss Bertha Helm, Mrs. Claude Cambern and Mrs. J. C. Sexton in the Dr. Sexton machine had been down in Franklin county on a picnic and were returning home when the accident occurred. The Sexton machine was in front of the Reed car and did not meet any rig on the hill. The hill has a bad turn in the road about half way down and it is said many accidents have occurred here. The accident yesterday was unavoidable and young Mabrac is not held responsible. The embankment over which the machine would have gone had he not hit the buggy is probably ten feet in depth and the manner in which the accident turned out was considered very fortunate.

NOW IS TIME FOR ROAD DRAG

Perform Their Best Service Just After a Rain.

Men about town who take an interest in the county roads and the city streets were pointing out today that now is the time to get in good work with the road drag. These implements perform their best service just after a rain when the surface of a road is loose and the high places are scraped off and the holes filled up. The city purchased two road drags some time ago, but they seldom if ever, are used when they could be used to advantage on many streets. Hal Green, living a short distance north of the city, is said to be the only person who has used a road drag since the flood and the stretch of road which he cares for is about the best in the county.

OLD CASE IS COMPROMISED

Enterprise Milling Co. Settles With Big Four For $200.

The case of the Enterprise company of Milroy against the Big Four railroad which probably holds the long distance record for a case that was never tried in the Rush circuit court, was compromised at Greensburg in the Decatur circuit court yesterday. It was sent there from the Rush circuit court on a change of venue. The Milroy company settled for $200. The case was on the docket here for several years, but never came to trial. It was always postponed for some reason or other. An unexpected turn arose which caused the plaintiff company to compromise.

COURT GETS RID OF FORTY CASES

Finds For Railway Commission
Against United States Express
Company in Ten Suits.

OTHER THIRTY ARE DISMISSED

The biggest cleaning the court docket has had in many days occurred this afternoon when the forty cases of the State Railway commission against the United States Express company to recover a penalty. The cases were sent here over a year ago from Connersville. The Railway Commission was given judgment of $150 in ten cases and the other thirty were dismissed. The commission alleged that the express company carried express matter into College Corner without first filing a rate schedule with the commission. The verdict was prepared by the attorneys and the express company did not make a fight. Each of the forty cases was listed under a separate number and the taking of forty cases from the docket lessens the work of the court.

STORMS FAIL TO LOWER MERCURY

Temperature Registers 95 Degrees

Today and Weather Man Says
"Continued Warm."

NO DAMAGE BY STORM HERE

The thermometer registered a higher temperature today than it has any day this week and the weather bureau promises nothing more than "continued warm." Occasional clouds in the skies today threatened a repetition of the fierce thunder and lightning storm of late yesterday afternoon.

The highest point reached today by the mercury was ninety-five degrees. The relative humidity was greater which added to the discomfort of the day.

The storm of yesterday afternoon had an austere aspect, but no great damage was done in Rush county. The storm was probably worse in the southeastern part of the county. The interurban service between here and Indianapolis was demoralized for a few hours, but was soon restored.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to Edward L. Ergenbright and Carrie Patterson.

FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR AT HOME

Mrs. Marian Harrison, Age 68 Years
Who is Dead at Newcastle
Formerly Lived Here.

THE CORONER'S VERDICT MADE

Mrs. Harrison Moved From Rush-
ville Shortly After Her Husband Dropped Dead.

Mrs. Marian Harrison, age sixty-eight years, was found dead at her home in Newcastle last Monday evening at four o'clock at the late residence in Newcastle, was formerly a resident of this city, where she lived for many years, and where she had many friends who mourn her untimely loss.

Mrs. Harrison formerly lived on what is known as "the point," where Buena Vista avenue joins Third street in the house where Mayor B. A. Black's grocery store is now located. Mrs. Harrison's husband dropped dead of heart disease in North Main street here about nineteen years ago and immediately thereafter she moved to Newcastle for permanent residence.

The funeral was held at the house at four o'clock, with the Rev. Frank P. Morris of Newcastle in charge. The burial was made in Southmound cemetery near Newcastle.

The Henry county coroner only yesterday filed his verdict in the case. He says in the document that her death was due to valvular lesion of the heart. The contributing cause was acute indigestion, which resulted in failure of the heart.

But two witnesses were examined, Charles Fletcher, who found the body, and Miss Margaret Shirk, who was with the deceased last. Mr. Fletcher testified that he found the body and that he had been told by Dr. C. E. VanMatre that he had been treating the deceased for an affection of the heart. Miss Shirk said that she knew that Mrs. Harrison had suffered a severe spell with her heart recently.

When the body was found it was thought that Mrs. Harrison had perhaps died Sunday night, but the coroner's verdict says that she died some time Monday. She was 68

FIRST BATTLE OF THE BALKAN WAR

Five Hundred Slain In An All-Day Struggle.

SERBS AND BULGARS AT OUTS

The War Party on Both Sides of the River Exultant Over the Prospect of Fighting Out to the Bitter End the Territorial Dispute Which Has Arisen Over the Distribution of the Spoils of the Turkish War.

Belgrade, June 26.—The brilliant headline in the newspapers here, "War is Begun," announces a serious battle between Servians and Bulgarians in northwest Macedonia, which lasted from 1 o'clock yesterday morning until in the evening and resulted in the Bulgars being routed. The combined losses are said to be 500 killed.

According to an official statement the Bulgars made an attack on the Servian positions on the right bank of the Zletovo river between Kratovo and Kotlesana. The attack was repulsed after more serious fighting than any yet reported since the clash between Serb and Bulgar.

Unofficial reports say that about 12,000 Bulgars, accompanied by 500 bomb throwers, attempted to pierce the Servian lines and the Serbs immediately accepted the challenge, brought heavy artillery and machine guns into action and sent a call for reinforcements. An artillery duel was kept up all through the day and the Servians repeatedly charged the Bulgars at the point of the bayonet all along the line, driving many of the enemy into the river. The Bulgars finally retreated across the river and were not pursued.

The news of the battle has caused tremendous excitement in Belgrade and has embittered the feeling against Bulgaria. The war party makes no attempt to conceal its elation, as it believes that the quarrel with Bulgaria must now be fought out on the field. Those who favor arbitration of the dispute are dismayed at the news, and the government is doing its utmost to quell the excitement. The authorities have confiscated several of the more fiery newspapers.

The situation is becoming exceedingly difficult, and it is impossible to forecast the outcome. M. Pasitch has not yet completed his cabinet. He has difficulty in finding a war minister. It is customary in Serbia to place a soldier at the head of that department of the government, but no soldier is willing to enter a cabinet committed to a pacific policy. The Skupstina has been summoned for a special session today. If it outvotes M. Pasitch, which is not expected, war will be inevitable.

It is understood that in the event of war Montenegro will make common cause with Serbia and would place 10,000 men in the field. The presence of those troops at Mitrovitza would relieve these Servians from garrison duty and prevent trouble with the Albanians and Macedonian Bulgars.

TRAIN GOES INTO RIVER

Wreck on Canadian Pacific Claims Many Victims.

Ottawa, June 26.—Eight passengers were killed and twenty-two injured in the wreck of the Canadian Pacific Western Express at McKellar, five miles west of here.

A spreading rail and probably a broken flange derailed five passenger coaches, and two of them toppled over and rolled down the embankment into the Ottawa river, where they were half submerged. It was the passengers in these two cars who were killed and most seriously injured. Practically all of the killed and injured were English immigrants of the Canadian Pacific "hand-picked" variety, who were on their way to homes in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

They Let Him Out.

Washington, June 25.—Clayton Herington, special agent of the department of justice at San Francisco, who sent President Wilson a telegram Sunday night appealing for the removal from office of Attorney General McReynolds, his official superior, because of the circumstances of the resignation of United States Attorney McNab, has been suspended without pay.

Stepped in Front of Train.

Logansport, Ind., June 26.—William Benham, Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, was run down by a switch engine in the Pennsylvania yards here and received injuries from which he died two hours later. Benham was on the rear platform of his caboose, and he stepped from the platform onto a parallel track directly in front of the approaching engine.

Hangs Himself to Rafter.

Rochester, Ind., June 26.—Matthias Pearson, aged fifty-six, a farmer, committed suicide by hanging at his home east of Rochester. His wife found him swinging at the end of a rope, tied to a rafter in the barn. Ill health is assigned for the act.

Postponed Postmasters' Convention. Shelbyville, Ind., June 26.—Illness or absence from the state of various officers caused a postponement of the postmasters' convention that was to have been held here today.

BUDGET SYSTEM IDEA NOT TO THEIR LIKING

"Pork Hunters" Succeed In Setting It Aside.

Washington, June 26.—The Underwood leadership went down to defeat for the first time since the Democrats came into control of the house. The fight that resulted in the rout of Representative Underwood took place in a party caucus called to consider a resolution providing for the adoption of the budget system as a basis of authorizing expenditures. Fearing the concentration of matter of making appropriations to square with the valuable funds in the treasury would diminish their opportunities for plunder, the "pork hunters" organized in sufficient numbers to table the resolution.

Mr. Underwood was the only member who was given an opportunity in the caucus to discuss the budget resolution. He spoke for two hours in favor of the reform suggested. When he concluded Representative Hardwick of Georgia at once moved that the resolution be tabled. This was carried, 95 to 80.

This is not the end of the fight to establish the budget system. Mr. Underwood and his associates believe a full discussion of the subject in caucus will ultimately result in the adoption of the resolution thus defeated.

Commissioners Sale of Real Estate.

MYSTERY OF THE HIGHSHEW CASE

May Be Cleared By New Evidence Just Unearthed.

SOLUTION SAID TO BE NEAR

One of the Most Mysterious Murders That Ever Baffled Police of Northern Indiana, That of William Highshaw, Near Mishawaka, in November, 1909, Has Been Recalled by Action Just Taken Against Two Men.

South Bend, Ind., June 26.—A solution of one of the most mysterious murders in Indiana is declared to be near following the arrest of William Arney and the filing of an affidavit against William Booker, now serving time in the Jeffersonville reformatory.

The men are charged with the shooting of William Highshaw near Mishawaka on the night of Nov. 6, 1909. Arney was arrested at Mishawaka and is now in the county jail, being held without bond. Booker was informed of the charge against him today.

The murder of Highshaw created a tremendous sensation in northern Indiana and led to all kinds of sensational reports. As the case appeared to be unsolvable newspaper men from all parts of the country were attracted to Mishawaka, but the keen-witted reporters failed to find a clue to the slayer.

Highshaw was found dead in his buggy in the barnyard at his country home early on the morning of Nov. 6, 1909, by his son who had been sent to investigate the unexpected arrival of a horse and carriage. The boy found the body of his father in a half-reclining position, his head hanging above a rear wheel of the buggy. The police and coroner both attempted to connect the names of several women with Highshaw, but without success.

It is now said that there was no woman in the case and that the motive was robbery. Booker, it is alleged, fired the fatal shot, but, frightened as a result of the act, the two men, it is said, ran from the scene of the tragedy leaving considerable money, a gold watch and other valuables untouched.

Neither man left Mishawaka and, according to reports, they were frequently on the scene of the tragedy when the officers were making an investigation. Although Edward Hepler of Mishawaka was twice arrested because of a supposed quarrel with Highshaw about a woman, the supposed real assassins were not even suspected. The prosecutor's office refused to give out any details of the circumstances which led to the arrest of Arney.

Says He Didn't Understand It.

New York, June 26.—James B. Haggin, a wealthy horseman and mine owner, had his portrait painted recently by the Baroness Vilma Lemoff-Parlaghy, but he did not understand that he was to pay the princess $25,000 for the portrait. For that reason the princess has filed suit alleging that Mr. Haggin agreed to pay her the amount named for the painting and frame, and declaring that $25,000 is the reasonable value of the portrait.

Postponed Vote on Motion.

New York, June 26.—Mrs. Bridgett C. Peixotto, the Bronx teacher who is under suspension for staying away from school to bear a child, was not dismissed from the department at yesterday's meeting of the board of education. A vote on a motion that she be ousted as recommended by the elementary schools committee, was postponed until fall.

Frank Payne of Circleville, O., killed his wife and Mrs. Ora Eby. Payne and his wife were separated.

ASTOR ESTATE IS JUST $87,218,791

Figures of Final Appraisal For Taxation Purposes.

JEWELS WORTH $161,920.

Colonel Astor's Liabilities at Time of Death Were $915,657—Cost of Recovering Body After Wreck of Titanic Was $9,007—Art Works Valued at $464,819.

The final appraisal of the estate of John Jacob Astor, who perished when the Titanic sank, lately filed in New York city, was $87,218,791.

The testimony taken before the appraisers and now made public for the first time discloses the fact that after Colonel Astor died in the Titanic wreck some one—possibly his sisters—put in a claim for the most valuable pieces of jewelry that his mother had worn during her lifetime and which had been handed down to Colonel Astor under his father's will. Before the appraisal was concluded this claim to the jewelry was relinquished.

The jewelry was appraised by Benjamin H. Herts, a well known jewelry expert, at $161,920, and Lewis Cass Ledyard, for the estate, said that a tax on this amount would be paid. The value of $78,000 was placed on a diamond sunburst of 288 stones, weighing 230 carats. The outside stones were estimated at $300 a carat and the fifteen interior ones at $600 a carat. A diamond necklace was valued at $60,000 and a rope of 204 diamonds, weighing at least 200 carats, was appraised at $300 a carat. The highest priced diamonds were found in two solitaire earrings. They were appraised at $800 a carat and weighed fifteen carats.

Costly Honeymoon Gifts.

Colonel Astor invested heavily in jewels after meeting Miss Madeleine Force, who afterward became his wife. One of the debts of the estate was $67,772 due Cartier & Co. of Paris. Nicholas Biddle, an executor, testified that Colonel Astor contracted this bill for jewels for Mrs. Astor during their honeymoon trip. The estate made no claim upon this jewelry, which Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor has in her possession.

Edward H. Holston valued the works of art at $464,819. Colonel Astor bought $66,000 worth of these treasures and inherited the remainder. A Flemish tapestry estimated to be worth $9,500 was moth eaten, but had been repaired. The two tapestries on the north wall of his New York mansion were appraised at $25,000. They show ninety separate scenes. Miller's painting "The Goose Girl" was appraised at $40,000.

Mr. Holston made the following explanation about the change in values to show how he had fixed the value of "The Goose Girl." "The 'Woman With the Lamp' was a picture we had ten times," he said. "We bought it originally for $300 and sold it for $500. Years later we bought it back for $20,000 and sold it for $40,000. We bought it back again for $60,000, and it was sold in Holland two years ago for $150,000."

Estate's Total Debts $915,657.

The total indebtedness of the estate was $915,657, including a loan made by the United States Trust company of $500,000. The expense of recovering Colonel Astor's body was $9,007. Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, attorneys, received a $200,000 fee for services.

A debt of $110,030 due Colonel Astor from Charles W. Morse was put down as worthless.

Summary of the report:

Share of Vincent Astor, son, $68,964,599, plus $10,000,000 remainder interest; Madeleine Force Astor, widow, $7,078,000; Alice Muriel Astor, daughter, $4,856,758; John Jacob Astor, infant son, $2,923,672.

The cost of appraisal is stated as $43,000.

HENS THAT SWIM AND DIVE.

Fowl Fancier Gives Reasons Why They Lay Fishy Eggs.

Expert research has disclosed the reason that patients in the Foresters' sanitarium at Rainbow Lake, N. Y., have had to complain of a fish flavor in their eggs.

The institution has its own poultry yard, extending to the edge of the lake, whither the ducks repair for swimming and the hens for drink. Recently the keeper of the hens got up extra early in the morning and was confounded when he saw a dozen of his hens floating on the lake in the midst of the flock of ducks. They were diving, too, and coming up with infant trout, which they brought to shore to devour.

The henry man, who is also a biologist, says it is a characteristic acquired through long association with the ducks. He will segregate the hens and ducks hereafter, for, although he has no objection to swimming hens, he feels that the flavor of the eggs directly concerns his own reputation.

"Nickel" Wife Gets Divorce.

Because he did not like his wife's cooking Joseph Schanz of Stamford, Conn., allowed her only 5 cents a week and took his meals elsewhere. Recently Mrs. Schanz was granted a divorce for desertion.

Daughter of Actress Claims Him As Father.

Paris, June 26.—The daughter of a famous actress, Mile. Schettler, known on the stage as Camille Clermont, has started suit against James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald, under a law passed a year ago which makes it possible for a father to be held responsible for his child born out of wedlock. The complaint was laid before the civil judge of Nice and notice was served at Mr. Bennett's house at Beaulieu.

The complaint, after setting forth the alleged relations said to have existed "to public knowledge" between Mr. Bennett and the plaintiff's mother prior to Mile. Schettler's birth, continues:

"Whereas, by money gifts at different times, in the quality of father, he has provided for her maintenance and in consequence she has the right to try and establish that James Gordon Bennett is her father."

"She asks the judge," the complaint further says, "to grant her the right to search for her paternity, to cite Mr. James Gordon Bennett before the court at Nice, and to have all mentions in public registers give his name as her father."

ROBBED ON HIS WAY HOME

Retiring Ambassador to Russia Loses Money in Paris.

Paris, June 26.—Curtis Guild, who resigned his post as United States ambassador to Russia and is on his way home, was robbed at his hotel here of $1,000 in cash and a letter of credit for $50,000. The manager of the hotel said that $44,000 had already been drawn on the letter of credit. Mr. Guild left for New York aboard the Cincinnati, which sailed from Boulogne today.

The New March on Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa., June 26.—Gettysburg is rapidly filling up with veterans of 1863 and their friends, who will be here to celebrate the semi-centennial of the battle next week. Every incoming train has extra coaches attached, bringing large numbers of people.

George Thatcher, one of the pioneers of negro minstrelsy, is dead at his home in East Orange, N. J., in his sixty-fourth year. Death was due to a cancer in the back of the neck.

Frank Fromm, former champion revolver shot of the United States, and his wife were found dead at Spokane. It is believed the woman killed her husband and then committed suicide.

The grievance committee of the New York Bar association has made a report to the legislature supporting John A. Connolly's charges against Supreme Court Justice D. F. Cohalan.

William Demeteress of Kansas City was robbed twice at the same spot. He had returned to look for the first robber, who got $19, when he met another, who escaped with a watch and a $1 bill.

TOBACCO TRUST
PROBE ON AGAIN

Attorney General Not Satisfied With Final Decree.

NOT REALLY DISSOLVED.

McReynolds Plans to Reach Big Manufacturers and Protect Smaller Ones by a Tax, Regulated by the Output of Factories—Details Are Not Fully Worked Out Yet.

That the dissolution of the American Tobacco company (the tobacco trust) effected under the administration of Attorney General Wickersham did not bring about any real dissolution of the combination is the opinion of Attorney General McReynolds, who has expressed much dissatisfaction with the plan under which the trust was to resolve itself into its component parts.

Mr. McReynolds says that he does not believe the trust has in fact been dissolved and recently characterized the final decree intended to dissolve it as an "obvious subterfuge and miscarriage of justice."

As special counsel under Wickersham Mr. McReynolds opposed the dissolution. He now has another plan for reaching the trust. He has submitted this plan to President Wilson, but the latter has not as yet given it his approval. The plan in substance is this:

To repeal the present excise tax of 8 cents a pound on all manufactured tobacco and substitute therefor a graduated excise tax.

For a Graduated Tax.

This graduated tax is to be levied according to the output of the tobacco factory. In other words, instead of taxing each pound of tobacco put on the market the entire output of the factory will be taken in bulk. Mr. McReynolds holds that a factory producing, say, 200,000 pounds of tobacco shall be taxed more heavily than a factory producing only 50,000.

By levying such a tax, in the opinion of the attorney general, the independent and small tobacco manufacturers could compete on fair terms with the larger manufacturers.

Mr. McReynolds told the president he proposed a tax of this nature in lieu of taking any action in the courts to reach the trust. He said that the details of the scheme had not been worked out as yet.

An Emergency Measure.

While such a plan could not be called a "tariff for revenue only" measure, Mr. McReynolds contends that it is an emergency measure devised to meet the pleas of independent manufacturers whom the dissolution of the so called trust has not relieved of a situation which, they say, threatens to place them in as much danger as they were from the "trust" before it was dissolved.

In 1910 Mr. McReynolds made a similar suggestion, but Mr. Wickersham, as well as President Taft, held that as it was doubtful whether an income tax was constitutional it was unwise to consider a graduated income tax.

Most of the attorneys of the department of justice agree that the government could not reopen the dissolution case and that future moves must be supplementary.

Housing and Health.

In much of the current discussion of housing and city planning the need of a basis of observed fact is apparent. A recent analysis by Chalmers, the medical officer of Glasgow, of conditions in Glasgow is an important contribution to the difficult problem of the relation of house-room to death-rate. An examination of the age distributed of the population of Glasgow showed that a considerable proportion of the difference in the death rate recorded for dwellings of various sizes could be ascribed to the large number of children in the smaller houses. The number of children under 5 years constituted 19 per cent. of the total population living in one-room houses, 14 per cent. in two-room, 7 per cent. in three room and only 4 per cent. in houses of four rooms and upward. Further analysis however, showed that simple differences in age distribution would not explain altogether the differences in death-rate in houses of various sizes. Assuming a standard age and sex distribution, it was found that a population of 100,000 with the Glasgow death-rate would yield 2,024 deaths annually in one-room houses, 1,683 in two-room, 1,263 in three-room and 1,032 in houses, 1,683 in two-room, 1,263 in three-room and 1,032 in houses of four or more rooms, while in institutions the deaths would number 3,649. With regard to the causes of death the problem becomes very complex. In infectious diseases, including pneumonia, the higher rate fell on the smaller houses. Diseases of the nervous system in adults, on the other hand, were apparently more prevalent among the inhabitants of the large houses. Chalmers regards the evidence as showing that the children born in the smaller houses are from the start under a serious physical handicap which is related to some extent to the food-supply. This could be traced to the prevalence in this group of various forms of disease of the digestive organs. "In later life the influence of the birth surroundings did not wholly disappear, but these were obscured by the influences of adult life, which, as in the case of diseases of the nervous system, tended to become degenerative type, and appeared more frequently among the occupants of houses of larger size."

Whether or not these particular conclusion are found to be generally valid, it will be recognized, says The Journal of American Medical Association, that the careful scrutiny and statistical analysis on which they are based is the only method likely to lead to permanent results. In a word, it is not a simple task to determine the influence of housing on health. Comparison of death-rates without reference to age, sex, race or economic condition may be quite misleading.

Amusements

The Palace will show a two-reel feature tonight entitled "The Evil Genius." It is said to be an exceptionally good drama. Miss Nellie Wooster will be featured tonight in special songs.

The Princess will show a Kalem drama "A Streak of Yellow" for the first picture tonight. It is a modern society drama and features Alice Joyce and Tom Moore. The other is a Vitagraph comedy entitled "After the Honeymoon."

The Portola will show three pictures tonight. "The Fire of Vengeance" is the title of the first, a Pathe drama. "Alkali Ike's Homecoming" is the second, an Essanay comedy. The third picture is a Kalem war drama, "The Fire Fighting Zuaves." The price of admission will not be changed on Friday and Saturday nights.

Editoriales

It seems that the "best sellers" of the future will not ring true to American ideas since all of the authors are being sent to foreign posts. Probably this is to give some of the young blood a chance.

While your wife is at the summer resort, you may at least enjoy the comfort and satisfaction of having everything in the wrong place.

Something to Worry About.

The latest "creation" from Paris, which has just been displayed in New York, is something similar to tattoo marks.

The burglar who will stop three times at the same place must be a hard loser else he wouldn't take such chances.

And, too, the fellow who stole all the beer from the refrigerator of a North Perkins street and a North Morgan street home the other night hasn't been arrested either.

Opportunity may not always be lying crunched under a shade tree.

Many people seem to feel that if the inflammable material is cleaned out of the back yard by July Fourth, the fireman will not get his customary exercise.

Too many people do not show the proper respect for the law of gravitation by going up in an airship.

Anxious—Do some of these orators who discuss so fluently the billions of the currency law feel a start of surprise when they actually handle a twenty dollar bill?

LAST BRIDGE AWARD MADE

Rush and Decatur County Boards Let Contract Yesterday.

The contract for the county-line bridge at Williamsport on a road which lies on the line dividing Decatur and Rush counties was awarded yesterday by the boards of commissioners of the two counties at Greensburg to Charles Redington for $3,146. John E. Harrison represented the Rush county board at the letting. This bridge was washed away by the flood in March and is the last of the contracts which will have to be let, because of the flood, by the board. At the meeting the Decatur county board awarded several contracts for repairs of bridges damaged by the flood.

years old, according to the verdict. Mrs. Harrison was apparently in good health Sunday and was seen about the house that evening. Monday afternoon Miss Margaret Shirk went over to the Harrison home and upon knocking and receiving no answer tried to get in, but found all the doors locked. Her effort to gain entrance proving fruitless, she went for help. Charles Fletcher was found and by prying off one of the back windows an entrance was gained.

Mrs. Harrison was found prostrate on the floor. She had her clothing on and it appeared as though she had fallen from the couch nearby onto the floor when stricken.

Mrs. Harrison had made arrangements with Miss Shirk to go to the funeral of Mrs. Hoover, who was buried Monday afternoon, but when Miss Shirk was ready to go Mrs. Harrison did not appear and she sent another to find out why she was not ready. The messenger came back and said that all the doors were locked.

Mrs. Shirk went to the funeral but stayed only a few minutes because she was worried about her. When she came back Miss Shirk called on Mr. Fletcher and together they opened the window and found Mrs. Harrison lying on the floor cold in death. Mrs. Harrison is survived by a son, William Harrison of Cambridge City, who is a postal clerk in that city, also Mrs. John C. Hudelson of Trinidad, Col. Mr. Harrison was immediately notified and started for Newcastle at once. Mrs. Harrison is also survived by a cousin, Charles Johnson.

Society News

The marriage of Miss Cora Mae Smith, colored, daughter of Mrs. Ella Smith to Dr. John Wilson Ramey of Kokomo, was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's mother in the presence of only the relatives and close friends. There were no attendants and the bride and Mr. Ramey entered together as Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Fanny Ramey, a sister of Mr. Ramey. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe meteor trimmed with shadow lace. The rooms were decorated in the bridal colors, pink and white, palms, ferns, roses and sweet peas giving the color note. Dr. and Mrs. Ramey left immediately after the ceremony for Kokomo, where they will be at home in North Kennedy street. The bride wore a blue traveling suit with hat to correspond. Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. Stone and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips of Indianapolis, the Rev. and Mrs. Rollins and Miss Sallie Barton of North Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Daubenspeck gave a surprise party at their beautiful country home Tuesday evening, June 24, in honor of J. Ernest Staida, who is an employe at the Daubenspeck home.

The lawn was lit up with lanterns so the guests could be entertained on the lawn. The evening was spent in social games. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were Messrs. Gilbert Austin, Vern Bell, Edward Bell, Carroll Clifton, Elmer Darnell, Tom Foster, Wayne Daubenspeck, Rea Ging, Chase Jarrett, Kanarda Jones, Tom Logan, Willie Myers, Fred Martin, Orville Martin, Lloyd Nelson, George Peters, Glen Smelser, Herman Smelser, Roy Smelser and Lowell Vickery, and the Misses Beatrice Austin, Grace Clifton, Rubie Daubenspeck, Merle Ging, Mary Hinchman, Opal Kiser, Marie Kiser, Clara Kirkpatrick, Sallie Logan, Mary Peters, Elsie Rea, Lillian Rea, Beatrice Reeves of Rushville, Rubie Shiley, Leona Brooks and Edna Lowie of Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Daubenspeck and Mr. and Mrs. Ryce Bishop.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Clark of Center township, when their beautiful and accomplished daughter, Miss Eulalia, was united in marriage to Glen H. Kirkham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirkham, of the same community.

Quite a large number of friends and relatives assembled and just before the appointed hour Miss Lillian Clark, a sister of the bride, sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Leona Clark with the violin and Miss Edythe Davis at the piano. Immediately following were heard the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and the little ribbon bearers, Roscoe Davis and Fern Stewart, came from the stairway, each carrying pink and white ribbons, and marched to the altar, thus forming an aisle for the bridal couple who were preceded by the Rev. Mr. Smith of Verona, Pa., who performed the ceremony.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of cream charmeuse, carrying a shower bouquet of sweet peas. During congratulations "Evening Star," by Wagner was played.

The living room was used for the ceremony and was tastefully decorated in pink and white, and with green vines and pink roses. The dining room was decorated in green and white.

Dainty refreshments, consisting of brick cream in pink and white, cake, punch and wafers were served. The Misses Lisle McDaniel and Lillian Clark presided at the punch bowl. Many beautiful and useful presents were received.

Among those from a distance who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosier of Columbus, O.; Miss Mabel Saul of Kokomo; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young of Grant City; Mrs. Wilda Martin and daughters of Lewisville; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Addison of north of Knightstown and Mrs. Orpha Clark of Knightstown.

Danny's Own Story

By DON MARQUIS

Copyright, 1912, by Doubleday, Page
& Co.

And all the time the doctor was learning me education. And, shucks, they wasn't nothing so hard about it onct you'd got started in to reading things! I jest natcherally took to print like a duck to water, and inside of a month I was reading nigh every-thing that has ever been wrote. He had lots of books with him, and every time a new sockdologer of a word come along and I learnt how to spell her and where she orter fit in to make sense it kind o' tickled me all over. And many's the time afterward when me and the doctor had lost track of each other and they was quite a spell people got to thinking I was a tramp I've went into these here Andrew Car-negie libraries in different towns jest as much to see if they had anything fitten to read as fur to keep warm.

Well, we went easing over toward the Indiany line, and we was having a purty good time. They wasn't no work to do you could call really hard, and they was plenty of vittles. After-noon we'd lazy around the camp and swap stories and make medicine if we needed a batch and josh back and forth with the people that hung around and loaf and doze and smoke, or mebbly do a little fishing if we was nigh a crick.

And nights after the show was over it was fun too. We always had a fire, even if it was a hot night, fur to cook by in the first place and fur to keep mosquitoes off and to make things seem more cheerful. They ain't nothing so good as hanging round a camp-fire, and they ain't nothing any bet-ter than sleeping outdoors neither. You roll up in your blanket with your feet to the fire and you get to wonder-thing about things afore you go to sleep. The silentness jest natcherally swamps everything after awhile, and then all them queer little noises you never hear in the daytime comes popping and poking through the silent-ness or kind o' scratching their way through it sometimes and makes it kind o' feel more silent than ever. And if you are nigh a crick purty soon it will sort o' get to talking to you, only you can't make out what it's trying to say, and you get to wondering about that too. And if you are in a tent and it rains and the tent don't leak that rain is a kind of a nice thing to listen to itself. But if you can see the stars you get to wondering more'n ever. They come out and they is so many of them and they are so fur away, and yet they are so kind o' friendly-like, too, if you happen to be feeling purty good. But if you ain't feeling purty good jest lay there and look at them stars long enough, and then mebbly you'll see it don't make no difference whether you're feeling good or not, fur they got a way o' making your private troubles look mighty small.

Well, I never cared so much fur houses after them days. They was bully times, them was. And I was kind of proud of being with a show too. Many's the time I have went down the street in that there Injun suit and seen how the young fellers would of give all they owned to be me. And every now and then you would hear one say when you went past:

"Huh, I know him! That's one of them show fellers!"

One afternoon we pitches our tent right on the edge of a little town called Athens. We was nigh the bank of a crick, and they was a grove there. We was camped jest outside of a wood lot fence, and back in through the trees from us they was a house with a hedge fence all around it. They was apple trees and all kind of flower bushes and things inside of the hedge. The second day we was there I takes a walk back through the wood lot and along past the house, and they was one of these here early harvest apple trees spilling apples through a gap in the fence. Them is a mighty sweet and juicy kind of apple, and I picks one up and bites into it.

"I think you might have asked for it," says some one.

CHAPTER VII. Martha.

I LOOKS up, and that was how I got acquainted with Martha. She was eating one herself, setting up in the tree like a boy. In her lap was a book she had been reading. She was leaning back into the fork two limbs made so as not to tumble.

"Well," I says, "can I have one?"

"You've eaten it already," she says, "so there isn't any use begging for it now."

I seen she was a tease, that girl, and I would of give anything to of been able to tease her right back agin. But I couldn't think of nothing to say, so I jest stands there kind o' dumblike, thinking what a dern purty girl she was and thinking how dumb I must look, and I felt my face getting red. Dr. Kirby would of thought of some-thing to say right off. And after I got back to camp I would think of some-thing myself. But I couldn't think of nothing bright, so I says:

"Well, then, you give me another one!"

She gives the core of the one she has been eating a toss at me. But I ketched it and made like I was go-ing to throw it back at her real hard. She slung up her arm and dodged back, and she dropped her book.

I thinks to myself I'll learn that girl to get sassy and make me feel like a dumbhead, even if she is purty. So I don't say a word. I jest picks up that book and sticks it under my arm and walks away slow with it to where they was a stump a little ways off, not fur from the crick, and sets down with my back to her and opens it. And I was trying all the time to think of something smart to say to her. But I couldn't of done it if I was to be shot. Still, I thinks to myself, no girl can sass me and not get sassed back, neither.

She Was Setting Up in the Tree Like a Boy.

I hear a scramble behind me which I knowed was her getting out of that tree. And in a minute she was in front of me, mad.

"Give me my book," she says.

But I only reads the name of the book out loud, fur to aggravate her. I had on purty good duds, but I kind of wisht I had on my Injun rig then. You take the girls that always comes down to see the passenger train come into the depot in them country towns and that Injun rig of mine and Looey's always made 'em turn around and look at us agin. I never wisht I had on them Injun duds so hard before in my life. But I couldn't think of nothing bright to say, so I jest reads the name of that book over to myself agin, kind o' grinning like I got a good joke I ain't going to tell any one.

"You give me my book," she says agin, red as one of them harvest ap-ples, "or I'll tell Miss Hampton you stole it and she'll have you and your show arrested."

I reads the name agin. It was "The Lost Hair." I seen I had her good and teased now, so I says, "It must be one of these here love stories by the way you take on over it."

"It's not," she says, getting ready to cry. "And what right have you got in our wood lot anyhow?"

"Well," I says, "I was jest about to move on and climb out of it when you hollered to me from that tree."

"I didn't!" she says. But she was mad because she knowed she had spoke to me first, and she was awful sorry she had. She began to walk away and to cry.

I got up and follered her a little piece. And it come to me all to onct I had teased her too hard, and I was down on myself fur it.

"Say," I says, kind of tagging along beside of her, "here's your old book."

But she didn't make no move to take it, and her hands was over her face, and she wouldn't pull 'em down to even look at it.

So I tried agin.

"Well," I says, feeling real mean, "I wisht you wouldn't cry. I didn't go to make you do that."

She drops her hands and whirrs around on me, mad as a wet hen right off.

"I'm not! I'm not!" she sings out, and stamps her feet. "I'm not cry-ing!" But jest then she loses her bolt on herself and busts out and jest natcherally bellers, "I hate you!" she says, like she could of killed me.

That made me kind of dumb agin, fur it come to me all to onct I liked that girl awful well. And here I'd up and made her hate me. I held the book out to her agin.

Well, sir, she snatches that book and she gives it a sling. I thought it was going kersplash into the crick. But it didn't. It hit right into the fork of a limb that hung down over the crick, and it all spread out when it lit and stuck in that crotch somehow. She couldn't of slung it that way on purpose in a million years. We both stands and looks at it a minute.

"Oh, oh!" she says. "What have I done? It's out of the town library, and I'll have to pay for it!"

"I'll get it fur you," I says. But it wasn't no easy job. If I shook that limb it would tumble into the crick. But I clumb the tree and eased out on that limb as fur as I last to. And, of course, jest as I got bolt of the book that limb broke and I fell into the crick. But I had the book. It was some soaked, but I reckoned it could still be read.

I clumb out and she was jest splitting herself laughing at me. The wet on her face where she had cried wasn't dried up yet, and she was laughing right through it, kind o' like the sun does to one of these here May rain-storms sometimes, and she was the purtiest girl I ever seen. Gosh! How Gosh! How I Was Getting to Like That Girl!

I was getting to like that girl! And she told me I looked like a drowned rat.

Well, that was how Martha and me was interduced. She wasn't more'n sixteen, and when she found out I was a orphan she was glad, fur she was one herself. Which Miss Hampton that lived in that house had took her to raise. And when I tells her how I been traveling around the country all summer she claps her hands and she says:

"Oh, you are on a quest! How ro-mantic!"

I asts her what is a quest. And she tells me. She knowed all about them, fur Martha was considerable of a read-er. Some of them was longer and some of them was shorter, them quests, but mostly, Martha says, they was fur a twelvemonth and a day. And then you are released from your vow and one of these here queens gives you a whack over the shoulder with a sword and says, "Arise, Sir Marmeluke, I dub you a knight." And then it is legal fur you to go out and rescue people and reform them and spear them if they don't see things your way, and come between husband and wife when they row, and do a heap of good in the world. Well, they was other kind of quests, too, but mostly you married somebody, or was dubbed a knight, or found the party you was looking fur in the end. And Martha had it all fixed up in her own mind I was in a quest to find my father. Fur, she says, he is purty certain to be a power-ful rich man and more'n likely a earl. She was a very romanceful kind of girl.

Well, we talked about them quests until Martha has to milk the cow, and I goes along back to camp thinking what a purty girl she is, which we had set there talking so long it was nigh sundown, and my clothes had dried on to me.

When I got over to camp I seen they must be something wrong. Looey was setting in the grass under the wagon looking kind of sour and kind of wor-ried and watching the doctor. The doctor was jest inside the tent, and he was looking queer, too, and not cheer-ful, which he was usually.

The doctor looks at me like he don't skeerly know me. Which he don't. He has one of them quiet kind of drunks on. Which Looey explains is bound to come every so often. He don't do nothing mean, but jest gets low spirited and won't talk to no one. Then all of a sudden he will go down town and walk up and down the main streets, orderly, but looking hard into people's faces, mostly women's faces. Onct, Looey says, they was big trouble over it. They was in a store in a good sized town, and he took hold of a woman's chin, tilted her face back and looked at her hard and most scared her to death, and they was nearly being a riot there. And he was jailed and had to pay a big fine. Since then Looey always follers him around when he is that-a-way.

The next day he is asleep all morn-ing. But that day he don't drink any more, and Looey says mebbly it ain't going to be one of the reg'lar pifflicated kind. I seen Martha agin that day, too—twicet I has talks with her. I told her about the doctor.

"Is he into a quest, do you think?" I asts her.

She says she thinks it is remorse fur some crime he has done. But I couldn't figger Doctor Kirby would of done none. So that night after the show I says to him, innocent-like:

"Doctor Kirby, what is a quest?" He looks at me kind of queer.

"Wherefore," says he, "this sudden thirst for enlightenment?"

"I jest ran across the word accident-al like," I told him.

He looks at me awful hard, his eyes jest natcherally digging into me. I felt like he knowed I had set out to pump him. I wisht I hadn't tried it. Then he tells me a quest is a hunt. And I'm glad that's over with. But it ain't, fur purty soon he says:

"Danny, did you ever hear of Lady Clara Vere de Vere?"

"No," I says. "Who is she?"

"A lady friend of Lord Tennyson's," he says, "whose manners were above reproach."

"Well," I says, "she sounds kind o' like a medicine to me."

YOU ARE LOOKING OLDER THAN WHEN I SAW YOU LAST

Have You Ever Had This
Said of You Because of Grey Hairs

It is most embarrassing to have a friend remark that you are "looking older". Grey hairs are not becoming, people may tell you so, but they are saying to themselves: "What a pity she is not old. And she used to have such beautiful hair."

There is one quick, absolutely sure, easy way of getting rid of grey or faded hair—simply use Hay's Hair Health. Benefit by the experience of thousands of others, who are using Hay's Hair Health. It brings back the fine, glossy, brilliant color of your hair—restores the grey hairs to their natural color immediately, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff. People voluntarily recommend Hay's Hair Health. It is not unusual for them to say: "I want to tell others about it. It's perfectly splendid." Try it yourself, today. You'll be surprised how quickly the grey hairs disappear; how beautifully dark and glossy your hair will remain after using it. Druggists sell more Hay's Hair Health than all others combined because their customers prefer it and they know that it can be guaranteed satisfactory.

Free: Sign this adv. and take it to the following druggists, and get a 50c size bottle of Hay's Hair Health and a 25c cake of Harfina Soap free, for 50c; or a $1.00 size bottle of Hay's Hair Health and two 25c cakes of Harfina Soap free, for $1.00.

FREDERICK C. PENFIELD

Rich Pennsylvanian to Be Our Ambassador to Austria.

Washington, June 26.—President Wilson has decided to appoint Frederick C. Penfield of Pennsylvania ambassador to Austria instead of minister to Greece. For several weeks the president had in mind to tender Mr. Penfield the post at Athens, but in the last few days decided to make the switch referred to.

TALK OF COMPROMISE DOESN'T GET VERY FAR

"The Fight Has Just Begun," Says Sulzer.

Albany, N. Y., June 26.—By defeating his direct primary bill a second time without even debating the measure one way or the other, the state senate heaped insult upon injury to Governor Sulzer. The vote was 38 to 19 against the governor's bill. At the regular session it was 42 to 8.

The assembly then passed the Blauvelt long and short bills approved by the Democratic state organization, which will reduce the cost of conducting elections up state—it being estimated that they will save $1,000,000 annually—and later the senate passed the same bills by a party vote. This places them before the governor for the third time, as a bill with similar provisions was passed twice at the regular session and vetoed each time.

Talk of compromise again is the chief subject of discussion among the legislators, as it is supposed the governor might be disheartened by the double defeat of his bill. The only word that has come from the executive chamber, however, is, "The battle has just begun."

WILL REOPEN THE CASE

Movement to Have Young Von Behren Stand Trial For Murderer.

Evansville, Ind., June 26.—Action that may result in bringing Allen Von Behren, son of B. F. Von Behren, a wealthy manufacturer, back from the state reformatory to stand trial for the murder of two of the three negroes he killed last winter in his father's factory, was begun here when John S. Wilson, colored attorney, filed a motion to be appointed special prosecutor to try the triple murderer on the two indictments still pending against him.

Last month attorneys for Von Behren withdrew a special plea of insanity and entered a plea of guilty to manslaughter on the charge of killing Walter Washington, one of the three. The prosecutor agreed to the change of plea and Special Judge William Blakeley sentenced Von Behren to a term of two to twenty-one years. The indictments for the murders of John and Henry Gordon are still pending against him.

Fannie Gordon, mother of the dead boys, as administratrix of the estate of Henry Gordon, filed suit for $9,000 damages against Allen Von Behren.

BANKERS VISIT THE PRESIDENT

They Want Representation On the Currency Commission.

DEMAND A VOICE IN AFFAIRS

Arguing That It Would Be Only Fair That Bankers Who Will Be Forced to Invest So Heavily in the Regional Associations Should Have a Voice in Direction of These Associations, Men of Money Submit Pleas.

Washington, June 26.—The administration currency revision bill, according to a growing impression here, after it is introduced in the house, will be changed so as to give representation to the bankers on the federal reserve board and at the same time to provide for the refunding of the 2 per cent bonds which now secure the $712,000,000 of national bank currency outstanding. It is believed that this action will be taken with the president's approval.

The president himself said that he did not regard himself as committed against reinserting in the administration measure the provision for retiring the 2 per cents. It was intimated that he readily would assent to such an amendment should it be the sense of a majority of his advisers and of the congressional committees that the action was advisable. Practically the same thing is true of the plan for reinserting the provision for allowing the bankers minority representation on the reserve board.

The president listened to a plea from four representatives of the currency commission of the American Bankers' association for representation on the reserve board and for the amendment of the bill to retire the 2 per cents. At the president's invitation Secretary McAdoo and Senator Owen and Representative Glass, chairman of the congressional currency committee, who have been the administration's advisers in the drafting of the currency bill, were present to listen to the bankers' argument.

The plan which the bankers offered provided for the addition of four members to the board, which under the present provision is to be made up of seven members, thus bringing the membership to eleven, the additional members to be chosen from bankers to be named by the regional reserve associations.

The bankers argued that it was only fair that the bankers who will be forced to invest their assets so extensively in the regional association should have some voice at least in the direction of the federal board, which is to have actual control of these associations. The plan which the bankers advanced for the refunding of the 2 per cents provided for the replacement of these bonds by others of higher interest rates. The suggestion was made that the 3½ per cents be used. It was recognized by the bankers that the amendment of the bill so as to provide for the refunding of the 2 per cents would involve some provision for increasing the limit to which the new currency would be issued. The present bills set $500,000,000, but this was regarded as merely the limit for the emergency currency, and certainly if it should be decided to withdraw the bonds which secure the $712,000,000 of the outstanding notes of the national currency, it would be necessary to raise the limit for the currency to a point equal to the sum of the national bank currency to be displaced plus the sum allotted for emergency issues.

The president continues satisfied with the outlook of the administration measure as far as the essential provisions are concerned, and he is determined to spare no efforts to push the measure. Last night the president discussed the bill with the Democratic members of the senate banking and currency committee. He went carefully over the provisions of the measure which he regarded as essential, explaining his reasons for favoring them and arguing vigorously for the support of the members of the committee. The committee members were called on to express their views. The entire purpose of the conference was to bring about a better understanding between the president and the members of the committee and to impress upon them more fully the necessity of the currency legislation at this session.

MORE THAN THIRTY KILLED

The Death List in Buffalo Mill Explosion Grows.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 26.—Thirteen bodies recovered, sixty-two injured in the hospitals, of whom probably twenty-five will die, and eighteen men missing, is the revised toll of the dust explosion and fire that swept the Husted Milling company's plant Tuesday. It is certain that these eighteen missing men lost their lives in the disaster.

Lawyer Must Stand Trial. Sullivan, Ind., June 26.—Samuel W. Woodsmall, the Shelburn attorney convicted on a charge of conspiracy in the circuit court here several months ago, whose case was recently reversed by the supreme court, must face trial on a similar charge filed against him by Prosecuting Attorney Bays. Bond for Woodsmall's appearance was fixed at $1,500.

ALFALFA

Alfalfa should be sown by the 20th of July

Make Ready—Put out 3 or more acres and learn what it is worth. With hay worth $10.00, a crop of Alfalfa would amount to from $40.00 to $60.00 per acre. Get some of the Highland Montana Grown Seed at E. A. Lee's. This is a very hardy variety and best suited to this climate.

We also have a few Cow Peas left yet. They should be sown by the first of July. Come and get a few and know their worth as a feed and soil restorer.

CATHOLIC CARNIVAL, JULY 22, 23, 24, 25

NEW FACES TO BE IN GAME SUNDAY

Fans Have First Opportunity to See Fast Players in Action Against Cambridge City.

VISITORS COMING LOADED

Schedule for Month of July Announced—Shelbyville Coming on Special Train.

SOUNDS NICE.

Since the start of the baseball season an effort has been made to find a suitable name for the Rushville team. Many names have been suggested but none has been applied to the local aggregation. As a solution to the problem it has been agreed that the Rushville team will be labeled the Arcadians. So from now on it will be the Arcadians. It makes no difference where the name comes from—it sounds nice and is attractive.

Rushville baseball fans will have the first opportunity Sunday of seeing the new men recently signed by the management in action. The team as it stands looks good enough for the best of them and Cambridge City will be up against a team of real players. Eddie Harris, formerly of the Indianapolis Reserves will be seen at third base, "Budd" Daus, a brother of the famous George of the Detroit Americans, will play right field, Ralph Pierce will play left field and Bridgeman, a college player, will be seen in center field. Pierce played here some last year and recently left the Cambridge City team.

Daus and Bridgeman were in the game at Shelbyville two Sundays ago and proved equal to this company. The team is probably the fastest that ever represented the city and is confident of taking Cambridge City. The complete line-up of the Arcadians (get the name) is as follows: Mattern, catch; Avery, pitch; W. Coombs, first; Cook, second; Harris, third; Klenk, short; Pierce, left; Bridgeman, center, and Daus, right.

The game Sunday will be the hardest the team has faced yet this year. Cambridge City has been traveling at a fast clip and is said to be one of the best road teams in the state. The game should attract a large crowd as great interest is being shown in the outcome. The Rushville team as it now stands is no experiment, as all the men are known to be ball players. From now on only the best of teams will be played and Cambridge City is the first of these.

The game for the Fourth of July is still pending. It is probable that the Ninth Infantry team will be the attraction. It will be known in a few days for a certainty whether the soldiers play here. On Sunday following the Fourth, July 6, the Shelbyville Reserves will be the attraction. Shelbyville is coming on a special train and hopes to turn the tables for the defeat of two weeks ago. The special will leave Shelbyville at eleven o'clock and returning leave here at eight o'clock.

On July 13, the Duesseldorfers will play here and on the following Sunday, July 20, the fast Y. M. I. team of Cincinnati will meet the Arcadians. July 27, the Indianapolis Specials will again play here. The Specials defeated Rushville once this season and the game should be a hummer.

THREE OTHER LOCAL PEOPLE WERE SICK

Mr. and Mrs. Birney Spradling and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy Affected by Poisoned Food at Earlham.

ALL HAVE RETURNED HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Birney D. Spradling and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy, in addition to Miss Mary Sleeth of this city, were affected by the poisoned food sold on the Earlham college campus at the Earlham homecoming, it was learned today when the local people returned from Richmond. Miss Sleeth, as was first reported, was affected more than any of the other people. Hugh Mauzy ate some of the same food, but did not take sick as a result.

Richmond newspapers of yesterday state that more than two hundred cases of ptomaine poisoning resulted from the sale of contaminated food. More than 750 boxes containing eggs, a pimento cheese sandwich, a ham sandwich and a small can of beans were sold at noon. Some of those who first purchased and ate the lunches reported their illness and an endeavor was made to call in the lunches and prevent the visitors from eating them. Those in charge succeeded in obtaining 100 of the lunches which were destroyed. It is estimated that 650 lunches were eaten at noon.

Pneumatic tired jimrikishas are now a feature of life in the far east.

JESS PUGH WILL BE HERE 2 DAYS

He and His Company of Talented Artist Will Appear First Two Days of Chautauqua.

GIVE CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Although on Lyceum Platform Only Three Years, Rushville Man Has Won Instant Attention.

Jess Pugh hardly needs any introduction to any chautauqua audience which will gather at the annual assembly this year, which will begin Sunday, August 3, and continue for a week, because he made such a fine impression at his first appearance here last year that his name became familiar all over Rush county.

This year he and his talented company will be here only two days—the first two. His company will give the preludes at both programs Sunday and at the afternoon program Monday. That night his company will give a complete concert. The two artists assisting him come with the best of recommendations.

Miss Elma Kinnison, soprano of the Pugh company, studied both voice and piano at the famous conservatory of Oberlin.

Later she continued her work in Chicago where she graduated from the American Conservatory in two distinct courses and also holds a degree from the Art Institute, Chicago.

While attending the American Conservatory, her solo work has been much in demand among leading Chicago churches. She has also done considerable concert and recital work in Chicago and has been most successful in directing operettas. One of these was at the noted Hyde Park School Chicago the past season.

In addition to Miss Kinnison's beautiful voice, she also has a delightful personality.

Miss Clarissa Max, violinist with the Pugh company, received her instruction from Prof. Adolf Weidig, acknowledged one of the greatest theory teachers in the United States.

Miss Max for two years has been first assistant to Mr. Weidig in his ensemble class. In all she has spent three winters in the American Conservatory, Chicago.

As a little girl, Miss Max made numerous trips out in her home state of North Dakota a violin soloist with glee clubs and orchestras.

Miss Max is as familiar with the piano as with the violin. She has played accompaniment for Dr. Gustav Holmquist, Jennie Johnson, the well known contralto, Marie Sedenius and Augustine Smith.

Three years ago the Redpath Bureau announced Jess Pugh as a new find who would at once gain wide and favorable recognition upon the Lyceum platform both as a baritone soloist and as a dramatic reader. That this prophecy has been fulfilled is illustrated in the following, a few of many enthusiastic reports received:

The Camden Expositor, Camden, Ind., said of him after his appearance there last December: "As a dramatic reader Mr. Pugh has but few peers on the American platform. From Granite City, Ill., in a quarter column write-up of the entertainment were these words: "Mr. Pugh is a rare genius, an all-around artist. His voice is rich and melodious and of remarkable purity of tone. His dramatic readings were so natural that one would see the characters portrayed in living reality before him." The Mt. Horeb Times says: "Mr Pugh is rightly named an intellectual and artistic giant." The Bedford, Indiana, Democrat says that Bedford people have heard many elocutionists and dramatic readers, but none of them is superior to Mr. Pugh. The Ann Arbor Daily Times News remarks, after speaking of Mr. Pugh as a reader of more than ordinary ability, that he sings charmingly.

GATES HOME IS ENTERED AGAIN

police believed the robber could not have entered there without breaking some of the stalks.

It was also suggested by the police that the side door screen could have been opened from the outside with a piece of wire. One in the crowd that gathered said that the robber might have escaped to the attic and climbed into the north half of the house, where Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Grindle live, and hide there, as no one was at home. Mrs. Gates said this was impossible because there is no access from their side of the house to the attic.

A North Harrison street woman was walking east in Fifth street between Harrison and Jackson streets last evening about dusk and saw a man try the back door of Wilbur Grindle's home. The door was evidently locked, the woman noted, and the man walked over to the Gates' side of the house and started to try the back door. The man was then lots to view. The woman says that she could not distinguish who the man was, but presumed at the time that it was one who had a right there.

The first circumstance last Thursday or Friday night which made Mrs. Gates suspicious was discovered when she returned about eight o'clock from calling on a neighbor. Her son came running from the back part of the house to the front porch and tumbled over a chair which had been overturned in the living room and investigation disclosed that the library table drawer had been ransacked, but nothing taken.
